How the Central Queensland Community Legal Centre Works

The CQ Community Legal Centre Inc. is an independent non-profit organisation funded by grants made to it by the State and Federal Government, donations from the general public and from membership fees.

WE OFFER free advice to people in their local communities.

We also provide education to the local community about the law and the legal system, campaign for social justice and changes to unfair laws.

WE DO NOT decide who receives legal assistance from Legal Aid.

Only very rarely do we provide individual representation at court.

This is a FREE service with no means test
